Traffic Squad to Be Named This Week Report Major Drive Started Along Dnieper

MAYOR LOOKS OVER LIST OF ELIGIBLE MEN

Takes Action After Council Sets Up Funds For Paying 5 More Policemen.

TRAINING PERIOD SET

City Fathers Also Put Final O. K. on Budget of 1942 Operating Funds.

Mansfield will have its long-needed traffic squad before the end of the week.

City council last night transferred funds from parking meter receipts to pay the salaries of five new patrolmen to serve in a special traffic squad.

The positions were created at council's regular meeting on July 1 but no appointments could be made until provision had been made for their pay.

Mayor William J. Locke today began interviewing the nine men certified for the positions by the civil service commission. Locke said that he hoped to be able to make the necessary appointments before the week is out.

In addition to the traffic squad's salary payments, council authorized the transfer of enough money to pay the salaries of five other policemen, already serving in the department. Three or four men will aid the new traffic squad during the remainder of the year, according to Police Chief Meade K. Bates.

"It wouldn't do to put green men on the street," said Bates. "They must be trained for traffic work for several weeks before the squad can operate independently. Uniforms will have to be ordered and arrangements for cycle and other traffic duty."

In transferring enough money from the parking meter fund to pay the salaries of five regular policemen, council "froze" $3,000 from the license fund, usually used for police pay, for street improvements. Any money over $3,000 saved by the transfer, is to be used for sewer improvement.

Although the parking meter funds are to be used only for traffic work, Fred Miller, chairman of the finance committee, and City Auditor Paul L. Kelley pointed out that a large part of (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Girl, Missing Month, Declines To Say Where She Went.

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Mary Louise Glendening, 19-year-old art student, returned home today after being hunted by her parents and police for more than a month.

She said that since June 3, the day after she disappeared after leaving home to attend an evening art class, she had been working as a waitress in a restaurant between Pittsburgh and New Kensington, Pa.

Gene Glendening, a cousin, of New Kensington, notified the girl's mother, Mrs. Joseph A. Glendening, that she was working in the restaurant.

Miss Glendening declined to say why she had left home.

"To say why would involve others," she said.

COMPLETE MASS MEETING PLANS

Richland Farmers Ready To Meet on AAA Protest; Court Actions Filed.

While a court battle loomed in Dayton today over the right of the government to limit the sale or use of wheat in excess of quotas set under the Agricultural Adjustment administration, Richland county farmers completed plans for a protest meeting to be held here tomorrow.

A mass meeting call was issued yesterday by a committee composed of Earl Logan and Lee Shafer, Washington township farmers, and Albert Ammeter, Madison township.

The session is scheduled for 8:30 p. m. in the Common Pleas courtroom at the courthouse.

Farmers in Richland and neighboring counties have been invited to the meeting to discuss AAA regulations and set up a formal organization to protest government action.

Meanwhile two suits were on file in Dayton in U. S. district court to test the constitutionality of the wheat marketing section of the AAA crop control act.

Farmers living in Preble and Montgomery called the quotas "unconstitutional, confiscatory and unenforceable," and asked permanent injunctions against the attempted enforcement of penalties. One suit was filed on behalf of Amos Mattox and George Mikesell, Preble county farmers, (Continued on Page 14, Col. 5)

Makes Night Club Patrons Listen To Pro-Hitler Speech

COLUMBUS — (UP) — A "fifth columnist" who forced patrons of the Ritz night club to listen to a pro-Hitler speech at gun point was sought by Franklin county police officers today.

Sheriff's deputies said the man came in the night spot after the last floor show, climbed on a table, and began an impassioned pro-Nazi speech. The manager, figuring he had an intoxicated person to deal with, signalled the orchestra to begin playing "God Bless America."

Whereupon the man whipped out a gun, ordered the patrons to line the wall, and continued his harangue.

When he jumped down from the table, a patron knocked the weapon—which proved to be unloaded—from his hand. The man fled, pursued by most of the club's cash customers.

$120,000 Goal Reached In Campaign For New Clubhouse

A goal of $120,000 in bond pledges reached today virtually assured construction of a new clubhouse at the Westbrook Country Club.

Announcement that the total amount needed to finance the building of a new structure to replace the building razed by fire six weeks ago had been fully subscribed, was made today by Oliver Henkel, chairman of the organization's finance committee.

Henkel, in a letter to the subscribers today, said that the major portion of the amount needed had been pledged by club members in Mansfield and neighboring communities.

FDR SUPPORTS PLAN TO KEEP MEN IN ARMY

Backs Army as Congressional Showdown Approaches Over Retaining Selectees.

ABANDONS ONE DEMAND

Agrees To Yield on Request For Right To Send Army Outside Hemisphere.

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, has warned the senate military affairs committee that immobilization of selectees and National Guardsmen "at this time might well involve a national tragedy," it was disclosed today.

(By United Press) President Roosevelt today supported army officials in their refusal to compromise with apprehensive congressional opponents in a showdown on keeping selectees under arms for the duration.

The United Press was informed that Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, told White House conferees yesterday that the army is more interested in keeping selectees in service than national guardsmen.

It had been suggested that Mr. Roosevelt would accept a compromise to keep guardsmen and reservists in service indefinitely, while merely offering inducements to selectees to re-enlist upon completion of their year's training.

Marshall was quoted as having told the president and his legislative advisers, however, that the army will "melt away" if selectees are released.

After Mr. Roosevelt had heard all sides, including assurances by senate leaders they could obtain majority support for the administration plan and house warnings that he was risking a major defeat, he decided to make the fight to keep all hands under arms.

The administration yielded only on the question of sending selectees to serve outside the western hemisphere. But Mr. Roosevelt had not endorsed that particular proposal of Marshall's anyway.

An effort may be made to dispose of the whole question simply by having congress adopt a joint resolution asserting that the national interest is imperilled and that the men must remain under arms. But there is some opposition to that plan—which is not (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

RATIONS GAS

Canada Puts Restrictions on Sale of Motor Fuel.

OTTAWA, Ont. — (UP) — Canada announced today the prohibition of sale, delivery and distribution of gasoline and oil to motorists from 7 p. m. to 7 a. m. week-days and for all of Sundays, effective tomorrow.

The order was announced by federal oil controller G. R. Cotterell. It was coupled with an appeal to citizens to cooperate against the prospect of a serious shortage by cutting the use of their cars 50 per cent.

Authorization for an increase of one cent a gallon for gasoline also was announced. Use of credit cards is prohibited; gasoline and oil must be sold on a cash-and-carry basis.

BANTAMS BANNED

COLUMBUS — (UP) — The state liquor board has the right to prohibit distribution of seven-ounce bottles of beer in Ohio, the district appellate court held yesterday.

The decision was given in a suit by the Knoll Beverage company of Cleveland, the John Longonville and Goebels Brewing company of Detroit. They had contended that the state lacked authority to ban the "bantam" size bottles.

Mansfield Ready to Take Pan Pot-Shots at Hitler

Aluminum Dump Heap Set for Contributions of Metal In Central Park; Lucas Gets Early Start.

Mansfielders were invited to "take a pot-shot at Hitler" today as members of the committee for the collection of scrap aluminum for national defense open their drive by erecting a snow fence to form an aluminum dump near Central park.

Plans were made at a committee meeting yesterday at the American Legion home to place a steel sign asking citizens to throw aluminum pots and pans into the dump today. The fence was to be erected yesterday but was delayed until a sign could be obtained. The sign will read "Take a Pot Shot at Hitler."

While Mansfield and other parts of Richland county completed plans for collecting aluminum, Lucas residents "jumped the gun" and went ahead with their collection today.

Aluminum pots and pans were to be collected by Boy Scouts and transported to the town hall in village trucks. County trucks will bring the metal to Mansfield next week along with contributions from other villages in the county.

Committee members in the city campaign were assigned to their various duties yesterday by James F. Carrigan, city chairman.

Ban Blowing Of Horns Except When Driver Must Use Brakes

Anti-noise ordinances in New York city and Memphis, Tenn., regulations of which were received here today for possible adoption in Mansfield, provide for traffic safety as well as a curb on unnecessary noise.

The ordinances both stipulate that automobile horn-blowing is prohibited unless the driver is applying the brakes on the car.

"If a motorist is applying the brakes to avoid a collision or some other form of accident, it would show that the blowing of his horn was necessary," Frank Beverstock, Richland Auto club secretary who received the ordinance copies from the AAA in Washington, said.

Information concerning the ordinances was requested by both Beverstock and Councilman George C. Kyle who said he would introduce legislation in city council at its August meeting providing for a fine in cases where motorists needlessly blow their horns.

The campaign for passage of such an ordinance was started a week ago and since then it has met with a voluntary reduction in horn-blowing on city streets. Hundreds (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Report Major Drive Started Along Dnieper

Russians Say They Have Crossed River At Several Points In Counter-Drive Against Nazis; Berlin Tersely Reports Campaign Progresses.

BERLIN — (UP) — The official news agency DNB reported today that German troops have captured what was described as "the easternmost Stalin line fortification" in the Vitebsk area.

LONDON — (INS) — With a plan to propose peace in the west while continuing the fight against Russia, according to the authoritative British Press association, Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop of Germany today was reported engaged in a series of talks with German diplomats.

Adolf Hitler's invasion forces were declared to have been hurled back 19 miles as Russian troops launched a major offensive along the strategic Dnieper river front today, and at the same time the Soviet high command spoke confidently of "the blood-thirsty fascist hordes whom we will now smash."

Russian military dispatches said Red troops, striking back on the central front guarding Smolensk and Moscow, had crossed the Dnieper river at several points. In the south, too, a Soviet war bulletin declared Russian troops had won a victory with the annihilation of two German-Rumanian artillery regiments and an infantry regiment driving toward Kiev, capital of the Ukraine.

The German high command, again using a single sentence to describe the mammoth conflict, declared:

"Operations in the east are steadily progressing."

A dispatch from the front, timed 5 a. m. today (9 p. m. Monday EST), published in the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia, said the Russian drive westward was continuing.

The pitpatch reported that Soviet troops had recaptured the town of Rogachev, on the west bank of the Dnieper river, 130 miles southeast of Minsk, which has been the scene of some of the bitterest fighting of the 24-day struggle.

In contrast to the Russian claim, DNB, the official German news agency, asserted that Soviet attempts to maintain a defense front in the Dvina and Dnieper river sectors had been smashed by Nazi attacks.

DNB also reported that the German push toward Leningrad, known as St. Petersburg when it was the capital of Czarist Russia, was proceeding despite Soviet efforts to bolster their line by rushing in hastily assembled reinforcements.

Premier Joseph Stalin's high command, in a laconic communique rivaling those issued by Adolf Hitler's field headquarters, said merely that violent fighting raged throughout the night on the northern front.

Dispatches from Rome said an Italian military expeditionary force was en route to the Soviet with 14 long trainloads of infantry, artillery and tanks moving up (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

U. S. To Take All Surplus Mexican War Commodities

MEXICO CITY — (UP) — The United States has agreed to purchase from Mexico all her surplus war commodities for the next 18 months under terms considered here to constitute the most important United States-Mexico understanding in recent years.

The agreement also provides that Mexico will limit the export of such commodities to the United States and nations of the western hemisphere and that the American government will expedite exports to Mexico as far as "compatible with the national defense program."

Commodities covered by the agreement included mercury, molybdenum, antimony, tungsten, lead, copper, other war essential metals, and fiber.

Japan has purchased huge quantities of these metals at prices above the world market level.

FISHER RITES TOMORROW DETROIT — (UP) — Funeral services will be held at 11 a. m. tomorrow for Fred J. Fisher, multi-millionaire automotive body builder, who died yesterday after a long illness. Burial will be in Mt. Olivet cemetery with nine nephews acting as pall bearers.

RUSSIA CLAIMS 19-MILE GAIN IN COUNTER ATTACK

Red Armies Launch Powerful Drives Against Germans, Report Successes.

to support Hitler's invasion armies daily since last Friday.

Moscow and Berlin varied sharply on the fighting in the south. The Russians said Red troops stopped a German-Rumanian advance with artillery fire and tanks, then charged the invaders' gun positions and turned their own artillery upon them.

Apparently describing the same action, the Germans asserted that tank-led Soviet counter-attacks in the Kiev area were repulsed and "completely wiped out as they tried to fill gaps in the bombed fortifications of the Stalin line."

The Germans said they were continuing the march on the Ukraine capital, which they asserted yesterday was tottering under combined land and aerial assault.

Authoritative quarters in Moscow declared emphatically there was no truth in diplomatic reports from Ankara that the Soviet government was preparing to flee to a provisional capital in the east.

Meanwhile, Japanese reports said Russia had mined the main water zones facing the sea of Japan and Kamchatka to guard the shipping lanes to her Pacific war supply port of Vladivostok.

Only a few days ago, Tokyo disclosed that Japan was considering an extension of her territorial waters in the north, an action which would serve to block Vladivostok against the arrival of United States war supplies to Russia.

A Tokyo cabinet spokesman said he did not expect that Japan would protest to Russia at this time and that Japan's neutrality pact with the Soviet "still stands."

DNE, German news agency, said the Stalin line had been pierced anew at Opochka, midway between Polotsk and Pskov, in a push toward Moscow.

Leningrad was reported by the Nazis caught between a drive northwards from Estonia and Finnish thrusts around Lake Ladoga.

A Moscow communique, avoiding mention of specific towns or sectors, said "during July 14 fighting continued in the directions of the northwest, west and southwest."

The Russian communique said Soviet warships, bombers and coastal artillery sank two German destroyers, a tank-laden barge and 13 transport ships and damaged another destroyer and 13 other transports in the Baltic.

British, Reds Formal Allies, Says Churchill

LONDON—(P)—Prime Minister Churchill declared today in the house of commons that the new British-Russian agreement for joint war action against Germany was "an alliance and that the Russian and British peoples now were allies."

Implying that British relations with the French also were favorable, the prime minister said the alliance which gave British and Free French forces control of French-mandated Syria and Lebanon was signed yesterday in "a cordial spirit on both sides."

That, Churchill said, "is a proof of the deep comprehension of the French people of the true issues at stake in the world."

The British-Russian alliance does not mean, Churchill declared, that Britain is identifying herself with "the Communist creed" or that she is "fighting the battle of Communism."

Semi-official circles previously had said the agreement, under which the two countries contracted to give each other assistance in the war against Germany and pledged they would not negotiate a separate peace except by mutual consent, made the British and Russians "co-belligerents."

Clarifying the situation, Churchill said today:

"Toward the end of last week it became possible to make a solemn agreement between the British and Russian people and of the Great Dominions of the Crown for united action against a common foe."

Both the British and Russian governments have undertaken to continue the war against Hitlerite Germany to the utmost of their strength and to help each other and not make peace separately.

"The agreement which has been signed, the text of which has been published, cannot fail to exercise a highly beneficial and potent influence on the future of the war."

"It is, of course, an alliance and Russian people are now our allies."

LOVE CLUE IN CRASH DEATH
BATAVIA—(P)—A broken headlight lens was the only clue authorities held today in the hit-and-run auto death of Sam Curtis, 50-year-old Williamsburg resident.

Deputy Sheriff Colonel of Clermont county said he found the glass where Curtis was run down on state Route 125 five miles south of here.

DIES IN JUMP FROM CAR
MARTINS FERRY—(P)—Leaping from her husband's moving automobile, Mrs. Andy Padyjack, 21, of Florence was killed yesterday. Coroner Clyde Hardesty said Padyjack told him his wife jumped because she thought he was driving too fast.

More new freight cars are on order now than at any time in the past 16 years.

CIO CHIEF ILL

Murray Collapses Playing Badminton at Picnic.

PITTSBURGH—(P)—CIO President Philip Murray remained in Mercy hospital today as doctors continued their observations after he suddenly collapsed while playing badminton at a family picnic Sunday.

Outside of reporting that the labor leader was "resting comfortably," hospital attaches refused to divulge any further details of Murray's illness.

FRENCH GIVE UP PLANES, SHIPS

Armistice Terms Give British All of Syria and Lebanon, Vichy Announces.

Charles De Gaulle) or be repatriated" to France.

The armistice was signed at the Palestine port of Acre Monday by British and French representatives.

While French troops are permitted to return home, some will remain on duty in certain sections, notably the wild Jebel Ed Druz to keep order until they are replaced by the British.

The French were granted full military honors by British officers. French non-commissioned officers were allowed to keep their arms. Police also retained their weapons.

British prisoners are to be released immediately under the armistice terms and French prisoners will be freed as soon as the occupation is completed and other conditions of the accord are carried out.

Britain is to keep an equal number of prisoners of the same grade as hostages until British prisoners already transferred to France are released.

A concentration of French forces was ordered to be made at noon today, when the British occupation or strategic points was to start.

War material, such as fixed coastal batteries, anti-aircraft guns and some military vehicles, were ordered concentrated under British control. The British were given the right to take over such of it as they need. The rest is to be destroyed.

Public works, as well as planes and ships, are to be handed over to the British in good condition.

Sign Armistice Terms In Silence

By HENRY G. GORRELL
ACRE, Palestine, July 14—(Delayed)—(P)—Gen. Henry Maitland Wilson, British commander, and Gen. Joseph De Villard, French leader, faced each other across a long table in the Sydney Smith barracks this evening, and, without speaking, signed a convention whereby France surrendered Syria to Britain.

The first break in the tedious, two-day negotiations came after the signing of the "convention for the cessation of hostilities," when one of Wilson's aides thanked De Villard and his staff in a tone of strained cordality.

All the participants showed fatigue and relief when the document was signed. De Villard, who had represented Gen. Henry Dentz, French high commissioner, appeared very weary.

When Wilson's aide thanked the French delegation, De Villard smiled faintly, bowed to Wilson and left the room. Later, he and Wilson were understood to have met in a private room to drink to "the heroic conclusion" of the Syrian campaign and to their confidence in the future.

STRIKE FAILS

Warren Workers Return To Jobs After Stoppage.

WARREN—(P)—An "unauthorized strike" which threatened to halt production of national defense material at the Copperweld Steel company ended today when attempts to prevent the early morning shift of workers to enter the plant failed.

Harry Wines, organizer of the CIO steel workers organizing committee, said no strike vote had been taken and that the walkout was unauthorized. He declared three or four of the foremen who "laid themselves off and tried to get the men to go with them did not succeed."

A picket line, which CIO officials said was established at one gate, has also been abandoned.

URGES ALL TO BACK U. S. MOVES

Rickey Says Time Has Passed For Opposition to Policy.

COLUMBUS—(P)—Branch Rickey, general manager of the far-flung St. Louis Cardinal baseball holdings, believed the hour must come when loyal American citizens can no longer patriotically oppose the course chosen by their government.

Declaring that he has been opposed to President Roosevelt and his foreign policies in the past, Rickey said last night that he now gives full support to the policy upon which this government is committed.

He addressed an audience in the Ohio State university chapel on "American Sports and National Defense."

More than 15 per cent of army draftees are 22 years old, constituting the largest single age group. Fourteen per cent are 23.

Triplets Six Months Old Today

Mansfield's first crop of triplets in years are six months old today and they're taking it in their stride, their mother, Mrs. C. J. Solomon of 431 Edgewood road, said. Sara Lou, shown left, weighs 12 pounds, 11 ounces; William, center, 15 pounds, 11 ounces; and Carol Ann, right, 14 pounds, 5 ounces. Both William and Carol Ann have two teeth, but Sara Lou is still "chewing" with her gums. All of them, Mrs. Solomon said, voice a mighty respect for the Mansfield anti-noise campaign every morning promptly at 6 a. m.

explained that aluminum collected here would be used on government priority orders.

Local junk dealers will bale the aluminum and ship it out to manufacturers designated by the government at a maximum price. The local dealers will then give the local committee a check made out to the Office of Production Management which will be forwarded to the OPM for defense needs.

Locke emphasized that no profit will be made by any of the agencies along the aluminum collecting route. The junk dealer will sort the metal at cost and will obtain the highest price possible from the manufacturers who will be getting the aluminum only upon order from the government.

Carrigan announced that persons carrying aluminum donations will be admitted to a special motion picture show Saturday at 10 a. m., at the Park theater. The aluminum will be carried from the theater to the dump by truck. The theater management and members of Local 576, Motion Picture Operators' union, are donating their services.

Special shows with admission for aluminum contributors will also be held at the Madison and Ritz theaters but dates have not been set yet, according to Carrigan. Plans are also being made for admission to a Mansfield Braves' game on the same basis.

Further details on the organization of the campaign will be made at a meeting Friday night. Members of the Junior Association of Commerce who will supervise the collection of pots and pans from the wards next week, will hold a special meeting before Friday to learn their duties in the drive.

Carrigan said that the aluminum dump will be erected on the sidewalk near the western entrance to Central park. No parking signs will be placed about the dump and lights and flares set out at night. Police will be asked to check closely during the night to assure no theft of the metal.

Merchants will be requested to donate any old aluminum pieces found, non-saleable or broken. Committee members will contact the merchants and trucks will pick up their donations during the ward drive.

Chairman of the various village committees directing the drive throughout the county will meet in the office of County Agent George B. Ganyard at the courthouse today at 8 p. m. Most county collections will be made on July 24 and 25. Aluminum salvaged from the county will be brought to the dump in Central park.

CITY TRAFFIC SQUAD TO BE NAMED SHORTLY

Mayor Takes Action After Council Sets Up Funds For Salaries.

The city's 1942 budget was up for approval at last night's meeting and council approved the finance committee's slash of $45,000 from the tentative budget originally offered by the administration. Next year's budget amounts to $344,233 as compared to the $319,370 set aside for this year.

Hardest hit in the slash were the police and fire departments, which lost $10,000 each in anticipated salary increases, the parks department which lost $8,000 and the police and fire signal system which was pared $6,000.

The police request of $71,550 was whittled down to $61,550, which is still $7,318 more than that set aside for 1941. The increase was made to take care of salary adjustments needed for regular advancements, promotions and changes in working hours.

Part of the decrease was made because the five new traffic men will be paid from parking meter receipts rather than from the general fund.

Also lopped off was $10,200 asked by firemen for anticipated increases in salary. The fire department's request of $79,753 was cut down to $69,553.

The parks department appropriation was slashed from $26,600 to $18,600 and the police and fire signal system from $18,000 to $12,000.

In addition to the general fund, $24,060 was approved for police and fire pensions, an increase of $1,910 over 1941's pension fund. The only other item contained in the new budget was an appropriation of $7,567.60 for the general sinking fund. Bonds due for retirement in 1942 amount to $68,000 with $9,567.60 payable as interest on other bonds.

There was no discussion of the budget in council meeting and taxpayers prepared at the public hearing to protest against any of the increases.

Other items of the budget which saw little change included: Council, $3,050; clerk of council, $2,250; mayor, $4,925; auditor, $5,270; treasurer, $1,125; solicitor, $3,440; legal advertising, $960; municipal court, $3,550; municipal court clerks, $8,100; jury and witness fees, $50; other judicial expenses, $800; civil service commission, $600; miscellaneous, $100; electrical inspection, $700; relief, $50,000; workshop, $500; humane officer, $660; sanitation, $2,400; health inspections, $5,935; public service, $3,400; engineering, $9,100; cutting weeds, $300; street repairing, $36,000; bridges and viaducts, $500; streams, $200; city building, $10,220; planning commission, $10; public employees retirement system, $2,600; and boxing commission, $25.

BIG OIL TANK AT LIMA BURNS

Blaze Rages for Four Hours; Visible for 25 Miles.

LIMA—(P)—A spectacular, four-hour fire late yesterday afternoon destroyed a big crude oil storage tank on a Buckeye Pipe Line company tank farm south of here. Dense smoke clouds could be seen for 25 miles.

Buckeye officials declined to say how much, if any, oil burned to estimate the damage or to discuss the fire's origin.

The blaze occurred just a week after the company started transferring crude oil from pipe lines to tank cars and shipping it to the Atlantic seaboard, where an oil shortage is feared because of a lack of transportation facilities.

MOHICAN CCC CAMP TO STAY IN OPERATION

Mansfield C. of C., Surrounding Communities Assured Jobs Will Be Finished.

The CCC camp at Mohican State park will remain open until projects now in progress are completed.

Although half of the camps throughout the country are being closed by government order, appeals to federal authorities by the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce and representatives of surrounding communities gained a reprieve on the closing date of the neighboring park.

This was made known today by John G. Routzon, secretary-manager of the C. of C., who said that the Mohican camp would probably remain open for another three or four months until projects now in progress are finished.

Surrounding communities who joined with the chamber in appeals to Senators Robert Taft and Harold Burton, as well as Representative Harry McGregor of the 17th congressional district were Mt. Vernon, Mt. Gilead, Loudonville, Wooster and Ashland, Routzon said.

Approximately 60 youths from a CCC unit at Chillicothe replaced the 147 veterans who were stationed at the camp when the park was first ordered closed by government order by July 1.

Cameraman Visits Lutheran Boys' Camp Near Mansfield

Highlights of a boy's life in a summer camp are shown above in scenes from the new Lutheran boys camp, formerly the Boy Scout's Camp Avery Hand, six miles north of Mansfield off of U. S. Route 42. Getting cleaned up for dinner at the outside wash stand, three

dition to four cabins, serve as sleeping quarters for the boys and their eight counselors. General headquarters for activities, in an as yet unnamed lodge, is shown at the bottom center. Meals prepared by the two cooks at the camp are served in the building. A section of the modern version of the "old swimmin' hole" is shown at the lower right. Carl Coad, senior student at Hanna Lutheran Seminary, Springfield, standing on the pool edge is swimming instructor and life-guard. The camp, which was purchased by the United Lutheran Synod of Ohio at their annual meeting in Cincinnati, in May, was opened for the boys July 6. The camp period will close for the summer on Saturday. Rev. Paul E. Plasterer, of Marysville, counselor at the camp, stated that officials hoped to hold the camp open during the entire summer next year.

Congressional Library to Get Wilson Letters

EUGENE, Ore. — (INS) — Dr. C. Valentine Boyer, dean of the University of Oregon College of Arts and Letters recently announced that he would present to the Congressional Library a sheet of letters written by Woodrow Wilson.

Expected to reveal new phases of the late president's personality, the letters date back to 1900 when Dr. Boyer was a student at Princeton university and Mr. Wilson was a member of the faculty at the same institution. The two became acquainted when Dr. Boyer won an English composition prize with Mr. Wilson as one of the judges. Their friendship lasted until Mr. Wilson's death.

Among the notes were said to be several recommending reading for the young student and pointers advising methods by which an honor system might be set up at a university.

The word "sheriff" comes from the old English title "Shirereve," meaning custodian of the peace of a county.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, TUESDAY, JULY 15, 1941.

The weather has been so fine during the past couple of days that not much has been said about it.

Canada's defense minister says the dominion is "in the war to the finish"—and he doesn't specify whose finish.

It is now being suggested that, in order to kill two birds with one stone, Harry Bridges be included in a bundle for Russia.

Training Needed for Traffic Duty

ANY IDEA that traffic control and enforcement of safety regulations is merely a matter of adding more policemen should be put aside before actual steps are taken to make contemplated additions to the Mansfield police department.

As early as 1933 it was recognized that traffic control officers required special training for that work and that routine political methods of making appointments did not serve the purposes of this new branch of the police profession.

It was Northwestern university, at Evanston, Ill., that took the initial steps toward special training of men for police traffic duty and in 1936 that university established a Traffic Institute, with Lieut. F. M. Kreml as director, and inaugurated an academic year's course.

As a result, more than 4,000 traffic officers have received specialized training in this branch of police work, through co-operation of the university, the Automotive Safety Foundation, the Kemper Foundation and Alfred P. Sloan, jr., chairman of General Motors corporation.

Cities are gradually getting away from the haphazard selection of policemen on the basis of political preference and are beginning to realize that this particular branch of public service requires men of high character, dependable honesty and consistent good behavior, both on and off duty.

The element of habitual courtesy enters so strongly into proper equipment of a man for traffic duty that emphasis on this trait should not be overlooked in the further education of present members of the police department and the preliminary training of those who are to be added.

Unhappy experience of earlier years in Mansfield has demonstrated that it is much easier to avoid appointment of men unfitted for police work than it is to rid the department of them afterward.

To Promote Non-Defense Economies

SOME competent economists say that inflation can be avoided in this country in spite of vast defense expenditures. Yet, except for some not very successful efforts to control prices, little has been done to prevent inflation.

The responsibility is divided. The national administration, congress, state legislatures and local spending units all have a job to do in this matter. But so, too, has the general public, and the latter seems still unaware of its duty.

The newly organized Citizens Emergency Committee on Non-defense Expenditures represents the first concerted, national effort to gather essential facts, set up a clear program and educate citizens for the purpose of cutting down expenses that are not essential at this time.

The committee is headed by President Henry M. Wriston of Brown University. Among its members are represented consumers, business, agriculture, labor, women's groups, church organizations and educators.

According to early announcements, the committee starts from the fact that heavy defense spending is necessary. For that it expects the American people to make sacrifices and to do so intelligently and gladly. On the other hand, it wants them to avoid the risk of inflation by insisting on economy in every other possible field. Those in authority, it holds, "will reduce the inflated non-defense expenses of government if so instructed by public opinion."

This looks like a useful and patriotic undertaking, which responsible public officials and thoughtful citizens should welcome and assist.

New World Order Foreseen

THE JOB of our half-civilized world is to establish a new world order, says D. F. Fleming, professor of political science in Vanderbilt university. It depends largely on Americans and there must be no failure. "We seem to have a second chance before us to work for peace. This is the last chance we are likely to have to prevent the wholesale wrecking of our civilization on this continent as well as the others. We dare not fail."

Our opportunity presupposes the stopping of British shipping losses in the Atlantic. If that is not done, there will not be tonnage enough left to carry over our lease-lend material when it reaches peak volume next spring.

For what has to be accomplished, he believes, our army is less important than our naval and air forces.

British Revert To Snuff Habit

THE MODE of "taking tobacco" in England has dropped back a couple of hundred years, and people are sniffing the weed again instead of smoking it. Men and women alike are reported as yielding to this ancient practice, in munition factories and in the air service. Instead of buying tobacco in the usual form, for pipe or cigaret, they buy snuff at 20 to 60 cents an ounce, and are sniffing, snuffing or inhaling the powdered tobacco.

The change is logical enough as cigarets are scarce and expensive now in Britain, and smoking cannot be permitted in airplanes or munition factories, and outdoor smoking at night is forbidden because of the light. It may surprise some people to learn that the snuff-taking habit has not been entirely abandoned in this country and that Mansfield tobaccoists still find it necessary to keep several brands of snuff in stock for addicts.

No General Confusion

MAYBE Lindbergh finds what he calls the "war in Europe" more confusing every day, but the public, as revealed in a recent Gallup poll, does not feel so confused.

Asked whether the war between Germany and Russia had changed their attitude on aid to Britain, 83 per cent said it had not. Twelve per cent said it had and only five per cent were undecided. Of the 12 in every 100 who had changed, eight said they were more in favor of aid to Britain than they had been before, and only four were less in favor of it.

The notation "(applause)" has been dropped from the Congressional Record report of speeches made in the house, leaving the readers—if any—to select the good points—if any.

KEEP 'EM COMING!

Uncle Sam's Super-Salesman Role

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — The biggest ballyhoo campaign the government has conducted in at least 20 years, perhaps ever, is under way.

It's the campaign to peddle to the public billions of dollars of defense savings bonds and stamps.

From kindergartens in the little red school houses to the marble halls of high finance on Wall Street, from the cash-and-carry counters of the chain groceries to the old gray United States treasury building, the bonds and stamps either now are on sale or soon will be.

It is estimated that more than $10,000,000 of free radio advertising already has been contributed. This ranges from the 10-second announcement that inter-spersed the soap operas to a full one-hour show (which will run into September) that contains more dollars-and-cents talent than the richest commercial sponsor in the country would be likely to buy.

The amount of newspaper advertising, from one-line slogan ads to full pages, couldn't even be roughly estimated.

A direct mail advertising campaign, now in the experimental stage (to determine by sampling groups of 100,000 or so prospective buyers, what letters and pamphlets get best results), will be launched before the year is out.

Thousands of Sales Talks.

A SPEAKING program that will take the sales talk into every civic, patriotic and fraternal club is already under way.

Posters spatter the scene wherever you look and pamphlets and booklets now or soon may be had for the taking from hundreds of counters in every community.

Behind this great sales spurge is Eugene W. Sloan, a two-fisted World War field artillery captain, who started his career as a shoe salesman in St. Louis and rose to a vice-presidency, an investment expert, in one of the big New York banks. For five years, he has been the treasury's chief of the division of savings bonds, and in that time he drummed up 2,500,000 customers for Uncle Sam's baby bonds.

He hopes to quadruple that number of customers for the defense bonds.

Sloan is frankly pleased with the campaign so far and not at all displeased with the approximately $700,000,000 in bonds and stamps that have been sold in a little more than two months.

"This isn't," he says, "the kind of high pressure salesmanship that was resorted to in the days of the Liberty Loans. Each of the Liberty Loan drives had a goal that had to be subscribed quickly. Some pretty heavy bludgeoning was required."

"I hope we never have to resort to anything like that."

Pay Deductions Studied.

SLOAN's experts are working on one method of sales now that I have not mentioned. It is the voluntary payroll deduction. It has complications, especially in smaller firms where it would be necessary to add to bookkeeping staffs to take care of it. The treasury is not yet ready to make any announcement on that.

Nor will treasury men comment yet on the "forced savings" system now being tried out in England, where salaried workers have to accept as part of their pay a treasury receipt to be redeemed in cash sometime after the emergency is over.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

President Keeps Close to Desk, Misses Travel and Old Contacts

—By DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Recent months of war in Europe have made some significant changes in the habits and the outlook of the president. He is more serious, more worried. Also he is more circumscribed. The latter is important, because it means that he sees fewer people, loses some of his old contacts.

During his first eight years in office, probably no president in history was in closer touch with the country as a whole than Franklin Roosevelt. Not only did he see a great number of congressmen, labor leaders, business men and politicians during his daily routine, but he traveled more than any other president. Several times a year he took turns around the country, kept his ear to the ground, met all sorts of people.

Ever since the international emergency, he has stuck close to Washington. Not once has he got out into the Middle West, even during the 1940 campaign. Seldom has he gone farther away than New York or down the Potomac. Thus he has missed the relaxation, the rest, and the obvious joy he used to get from his roving junkets. Also he has missed his old personal contacts.

Note—The president boasts that he rests on a railroad trip, and this is really true. He seems to sleep better on a Pullman, and on occasion orders have been given to the train engineer to stretch out a run between towns in order to give the president extra sleep.

More Gold Braid.

ROOSEVELT's contacts thus are limited by remaining in Washington, and in Washington also, he is more circumscribed than ever. He does not see nearly as many members of congress and men from many walks of life as formerly. This is because he is concentrating so much time on national defense and foreign affairs.

All important decisions in the state department come across his desk. The freezing of Axis funds, the closing of German-Italian consulates, the speeches of Secretary Knox, have to get the president's OK. Important decisions regarding the army and navy come to him, and a constant stream of questions regarding

No War Enthusiasm.

NOW, however, he knows that every step he takes in foreign policy, every dollar he spends for the navy, every man he inducts into the army, may be a step toward tearing down rather than building up. He believes the steps he is taking are absolutely necessary. But he has no enthusiasm for them. In other words, he has no enthusiasm for war.

Most of the men around Roosevelt believe that war is inevitable, and it may be that he does, too, though he has not admitted that publicly. But judging by his hangover back in opposition to his more vigorous military-foreign policy advisers, the president hates and dreads the idea of this nation going into war.

He hates the reactions and aftermaths of war, and he hates the idea of having history record him as a war president.

At the same time he believes that this country will have to move fast, and if it does not move now it may be too late. For the best definition of an isolationist, Roosevelt firmly believes, is one who procrastinates until it is too late to do anything.

Probably the best expression of Roosevelt's dread reluctance toward the idea of war was a conversation he had with the Guatemalan minister after the fireside chat of May 27. Minister Recinos had known Roosevelt as the young assistant secretary of the navy, and when he recalled those days, he got a significant observation from the president.

In those days Roosevelt used to be impatient with Woodrow Wilson because he did not bring the fleet into the Atlantic in order to be prepared for eventualities with Germany. Wilson opposed this because it might lead to war, and young Roosevelt felt very strongly that Wilson was wrong.

"But now that I am in his position," Roosevelt said, "I can see that he was right."

U. S. Army in Bolivia.

A SIGNIFICANT move in Hemisphere defense is about to be made in Bolivia. This government will announce an agreement with the Bolivian government for sending an American air mission to train the Bolivian air force.

Importance of this move is that it means a shift from German military influence to U. S. influence. For twenty years, from 1910 until the outbreak of the Chaco war between Bolivia and Paraguay, the Bolivian army had been trained by a German military mission.

Head of the mission was General Hans Kundt, who was paid the munificent salary of $10,000 a month, the largest salary received by any military man anywhere. (General Douglas MacArthur, head of the Philippine army, is now the highest paid, getting a reputed $25,000 annually.)

The American officers in Bolivia will receive their present pay, plus a slight increase to compensate them for living abroad.

Big Housing Pact.

IT'S BEING kept under cover, pending approval by the president, but a master labor agreement, designed to speed up construction of vital defense housing, has been reached between AFL leaders and government housing heads. Affecting construction workers all over the country, the agreement contains three major clauses:

(1) Uniform time-and-a-half pay for overtime for all building trades workers employed on army cantonments and defense housing projects; (2) a ban on jurisdictional strikes; (3) payment of prevailing wage scales.

The pact was worked out at a series of conferences between John Coyne, able chief of the AFL building trades department, which represents virtually all organized building workers in the country; Charles F. Palmer, private contractors; and war and navy officials.

A Farmer's Diary

Open Air-Movie

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

EVERY Wednesday night there is a free movie in our village. An itinerant vendor of film entertainment sets up a screen at the end of a vacant lot in the business district and shows a talking picture. A group of business men finance this entertainment as a means of boosting business.

Farmers for miles around attend. Having little money to spend, we ourselves have not been regular patrons, but many of our neighbors, especially those with young folks, go every week. The older people, however, are not so keen on the picture, and the youngsters, through the street by twos and by crowds. It is much like a fair or a carnival.

To me, the interesting part of the whole entertainment is to watch the people. At some time in the evening one may see nearly everyone he knows and many whom he never saw before. The girls are there with their curls and their make-up on; the boys are there with sleek hair and bronzed arms contrasting with white shirt sleeves; mothers are there with babies in arms; fathers come with two or three small boys in tow and look sheepish as they admit that "the kids were just bound to come." Old ladies with white hair meet and greet and sit down together on the nearest bench to talk. Prospective mothers sit in parked cars or move slowly along the shopping district clinging to their men's arms, pretending to ignore the looks of loafers and passers-by.

Parking space is at a premium. The other evening I sat in our car along a back street and listened. The motion picture was nearly over. The hero must have come galloping to the rescue. I heard the sound of horses' feet, greatly amplified, and then the shrill yell of a host of small boys—seated on the ground, doubtless, with most of their peanuts eaten and only their chewing gum left to tide them through. An audible sigh. The show was over.

A stentorian voice announced the winning members of the weekly lottery tickets. Out of an alley, home goes began to appear. A group of half grown boys came first, dodging and yelling, each carrying an orange crate—used for a seat. Benches

Listen World!

They Danced!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

REMEMBER, I've been telling you about Frank C. Betts, Britisher, one of Our Gang, who's seeing the war through as part of the Home Guard in England? In between bombings F. C. B. sends us his personal record of the fracas and we pass it around.

Quiet sort of a fellow, Frank Betts. As English as a tea biscuit. Doesn't bellow . . . doesn't boast. But he gets his spirit across as effectively as any.

Stuka Bomber. F'instance, read the following from his last letter, of May 29th.

"The last blitz here was the devil. I believe it was timed to coincide with Hess's arrival. A kind of suggestion that this is what we could expect if we didn't make peace. What fools the Germans are! . . . There is so much blooming ruin that I begin not to know my way about London."

It is all too appalling for words but people remain the same. Within 24 hours they are collecting what they can and opening the old store somewhere else. It is tragic, but it is also glorious.

"It is, I imagine, well known in the United States that Plymouth has been reduced pretty well to ashes and old iron. They have had a dreadful time, but a few nights ago the Mayor of the place called the remnant of the population to a meeting on the Hoe. This is a public place—the spot where Sir Francis Drake played bowls when the Spanish Armada sailed up the Channel. When the Mayor got there, they found the Mayor had a band, and he promptly invited them all to a dance right there. And this they accepted. Young and old danced to the music of the band, and in effect, told Hitler what he could go and do. Very amusing."

You choke a bit over those last two words—thinking of the pride and hurt and burning rage they camouflage! "Young and old danced." Beyond their tripping feet lay the ruin of all they had known and loved. Hopes and homes blasted into "ash and old iron"—the broken bodies of scores of mothers, fathers, sweethearts, babes, buried in one ghastly, communal grave. The very bloodstains still plain upon the stones.

YET THEY DANCED!

Danced, not in spite of these things, but because of them! Danced in tender tribute . . . and gallant defiance. As you or I would lay wreaths on the resting places of our dear ones, so they laid this memorial of their undaunted hearts and proud, determined gaiety.

LIFE SHOULD GO ON, THOUGH THERE BE A HUNDRED HITLERS, OR A HUNDRED PLYMOUTH MASSES.

ACRES!

You can't lick a spirit like that, whether it occurs in a nation, a city, or an individual. For that spirit has risen above the regimented brute or the stoical slave. Those who can dance above the ruins of their own broken hearts have become an integral part of the plan of Life itself. They are what Life has been trying to produce through all the ages—its latest, finest masterpiece.

"Within 24 hours they are collecting what they can and opening the old store somewhere else."

Do not grieve—more than you can help—over the savage wreckage. Rejoice, rather, that Man has something in him which can survive all wreckage . . . which can always "open the old store somewhere else" if he puts his heart to it . . . which can defy and defeat any power of darkness.

For every man, as for every nation, there comes a Plymouth. Perhaps you are facing yours . . . standing above a broken dream or a bloodstained grave.

THEN DANCE! RISE ABOVE THAT WRECKAGE! DEFY THAT DESPAIR! "OPEN THE OLD STORE SOMEWHERE ELSE" WITH NEW DREAMS, NEW LOVE! IT CAN BE DONE —IT IS BEING DONE.

MILK PRICES ARE BOOSTED IN BUCYRUS

Increased Production Costs Cited as Quarts Are Hiked Two Cents.

BUCYRUS—Bucyrus milk dealers association today announced an increase of milk prices. Practically all local dealers are affiliated with the association.

Increase in production costs is given as the reason for the boost. Demands for evaporated milk for army consumption and exports have also pushed up the price of bottling grades, dealers state. Crawford county supplies large quantities of milk in Cleveland.

The new price will be 12 cents per quart and 7 cents a pint. Flats previously sold for 6 cents.

Miss Eileen Philbin, newly named president of the Bucyrus branch of the American Association of University Women today announced the official staff of the group for its initial year.

Mrs. Myron Millar was named as chairman of the committee which will arrange the study program. Other program chairmen include Miss Mary Beer, chairman of the international relations and education; Miss Katherine Cole, social studies; Mrs. James Devitt, creative arts and Miss Sally Sears, economic and legal status of women.

Mrs. Fred Ward was named chairman of membership; Mrs. S. K. Kalber, fellowship; Miss Isabel George, legislative program; Miss Eloise Armistage, recent graduates; Miss Evelyn Schieber, publicity and Mrs. Randall Motts, program.

Russell Graseley, 27, who was indicted secretly by the April grand jury was taken into custody by local officials Monday to answer to a charge of second degree manslaughter. Graseley has been recovering from injuries received in a fatal accident from which the charge arose.

Mrs. Lena Holt, young mother, received fatal injuries in the accident April 26, on the Marion road south of Bucyrus.

Graseley was arraigned before Common Pleas Judge C. U. Ahi and entered a plea of innocent. He was placed under $500 bond. No date was set for the trial. He was placed in county jail when he was unable to furnish bond.

HOLD REUNION

LOUDONVILLE—The 15th annual reunion of the Loudonville high school class of 1926 was held Sunday at Riverside park. Thirty-five were present.

The following officers were elected: president, Dick Schneider; secretary-treasurer, Mable Mosher. The 1942 reunion will be held on the third Sunday in June at Riverside park.

REUNION SUNDAY

LOUDONVILLE—The Weirick reunion was held Sunday at the old Weirick homestead on Honey Creek road with 78 in attendance from Perryville, Haysville, Loudonville, Akron, Canton and Columbia, Ind. The following officers were elected: president, Glenn Messner; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Myrtle Weirick, both of Ashland.

SOCIETY MEETS

GALION—The July meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the First Reformed church was held Monday evening at the home of Hattie and Ollie Brick. Business was in charge of Hattie Brick, while the program was planned and presented by Mrs. Carl Hocker and Ollie Brick.

EX-PREXIS MEET

GALION—Past Presidents unit of the American Legion Auxiliary held its monthly meeting Monday afternoon with Mrs. Emma Eason on Sherman street. Lunch was served at the close of business and social hours.

GALION BRIDE-ELECT FETED AT PRE-NUPTIAL PARTY MONDAY

GALION—A pretty pre-nuptial event was the party given Monday night for Muriel Ricker, bride-elect of Edwin Swaim of Cincinnati, when Martha Smith and Mrs. Charles Prim entertained at the home of the latter. Twelve close friends of Miss Ricker were invited to play bridge and at the close of the evening they presented her with a miscellaneous shower of gifts. Streamers that extended from two large wedding bells led Miss Ricker to her gifts.

When the hostesses served refreshments, yellow and white appointments were used, and the wedding bells were carried out. Miniature bells were given as favors, and the table was centered with wedding bell cakes.

Until her resignation recently, Miss Ricker was commercial teacher in the Galion high school.

NEW COURSES ARE OFFERED AT ASHLAND

College Broadens Field of Study to Include Defense Training Subjects.

ASHLAND—Keeping in step with other leading colleges and universities throughout the country, Ashland college is planning to offer this fall as its part in the national defense training program a well rounded course of studies in many fields of training vital to the nation. Dr. R. W. Bixler, professor of history, has been appointed director of the program and will work with the faculty committee in making up the complete plans.

Three general fields important in the program of defense are considered in the tentative program already set up by the faculty committee. They are physical well-being, leadership, and technical training.

It has long been accepted that technical training is a vital part of national defense but the inclusion of physical well-being in the program is a new idea, having developed during the present crisis. Authorities on defense are stressing the importance of the maintenance of national health both in the army and among the civilians.

In accordance with the new trend the college has incorporated in its program courses in home and elementary nursing, dietetics and first aid which carry no college credit; anatomy, personal hygiene, recreation, and physiology, with credit.

Days of stress produce great leaders and the college is assisting in the development of such men by offering a program of leadership. Incorporated in this second portion of the three-fold plan are such courses as business administration, business law, elementary statistics, corporation finance, economics, accounting, psychology, music, and personnel. All nine of these courses can be taken for college credit.

The main purposes of the technical training division of the program are to help men find positions in industry, to further advanced training in other engineering defense training programs, and to bring about a more rapid advancement after employment has been found. The courses being offered to accomplish these purposes are engineering, drawing, physics, chemistry, aviation, radio and photography with college credit and a course in electric wiring without credit.

Boy Treats Girl With Little Respect

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Dear Miss Fairfax:
I am employed in the office of a department store, and as my father has been dead for several years my entire pay envelope has to go to my mother to keep things going at home.
I'm deeply in love with a young man who belongs to another crowd, of a higher social standing. He has told me he loves me, and I know I think a great deal of him. He will never take me anywhere except in his car for long rides. He is afraid he may meet some of his friends.
He has also confessed that he tells his mother he goes elsewhere when he comes to see me, which has hurt me terribly. My people are considered highly respectable.
Hurt Pride.
It doesn't seem possible that there is any happiness for you in continuing a friendship where the young man plays a part with such consciousness of a higher social position. You are so honest and generous in sharing your pay envelope with your family that you deserve a friend of a better quality than this boy could be.
It's unlikely that marriage with someone who regards you as an inferior would be happy.

His Girl's Father
Dear Miss Fairfax:
All our plans for the future have been made, and we hope to be able to marry in two or three years. My girl friend has a good position and wants to help out her family until we are ready to marry. She is 18 years of age; I am 21.
My idea is to talk it over with her father, but she doesn't want me to do it because she's afraid of him, knowing how set he is against early marriages. Do you think I ought to talk over our marriage with him?
Reggie.

Take Back Husband
Dear Miss Fairfax:
My husband and I have been separated for nearly a year, but since we separated he rented the house and I'm living with my parents.
My husband also is a heavy drinker and when we lived together he abused me when he drank. He can be kind and sweet when not under the influence of liquor. I love him very much, and if he'd only come back and try to make a home for me, I'd be so happy.
I've written and talked to him over the phone but he refuses to make a home for me. He likes to have his good times.
Unhappy.
You've got the hope that your husband's better nature will assert itself, and he'll develop some sense of responsibility toward you and your little son. Isn't there someone near at hand — some member of his family, or someone whose judgment he respects — who can arouse in him a sense of obligation?

Experiment With New Make-up
If YOU want to have cosmetic fun, get yourself a flock of lipstick and rouge compacts to match. Too many of us cling to the same old tints year after year. Stand-patters and diehards don't make much progress along the beauty road; the modern style parade leaves them behind. Cosmetics chemists are making new offerings all the time and it is just as well, if not considerably better, to keep in touch with what is going on. It's exciting.
Here is a good rule; modify or accentuate your complexion tone, your counterfeits and your red lip loveliness according to the color of the robe you wear. And don't overlook the cute, silly hat either. If it carries flaming tones, they must be considered.
One must cater to natural skin coloring, of course. Getting the right powder is the first move in the make-up game. If powder is too light, it is going to show up, give the face a brittle, hard look. When the skin is sallow, powder must conform, but brighten it with an addition of flesh powder to give the epidermal color more life. Blondes, forever falling for rose powder, would do better if they used one with a golden cast. The color of the eyes has a lot to do with the choice of lipstick and rouge. Be observing.
The tanned, tawny skin calls for rouge with a bit of orange in it; apply cardinal, geranium, vermilion, and the cutaneous surface may assume a shade that is anything but flattering; the factory blush shows up like a blot. Of course, between rouge and lipstick there must be color harmony, otherwise the feminine map will appear lithographic. Also, my children, these are the days when we're out for slick artifice. Everybody may know that the blush and the red mouth portals are examples of cosmetic art, but why advertise the fact?
It is reasonable that the color of the frock must be kept in mind; the frock has an effect upon the skin, bringing out its high-lights or draining it of color, as sometimes happens.
Navy blue behaves prettily in conjunction with rouge that is damask or American beauty, that rich, velvety red that is becoming to the true brunette. When black is worn, facial batik can be brilliant, if one wishes, and if one is not a redhead or a true blonde. With all the pastel tones, make-up should be delicate and faint.

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, July 16.
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE
A day of great promise for attaining high objectives and reaching the goal of heart's desire is forecast from the ruling aspects of important planets. It is a time for seeking the assistance of those in power and authority despite the fact there may be some determined opposition of superiors or employers not favorable to ambitious propositions. However, elderly relatives may be of benefit, and the fortunes should increase and expand through application, sound principles and with an element of the unforeseen or surprising.
Those whose birthday it is should have a year of advancement, accomplishment and the attainment of many cherished hopes and wishes. This despite some opposition or lack of endorsement from superiors or employers. But elderly relatives and others in prestige and standing will be found ready to aid and abet meritorious and clever efforts or propositions. Be careful with papers and alert to petty losses. Important friendships or affiliations are encouraged.
A child born on this day should be unusually talented, have much stability and principle and should succeed brilliantly despite some opposition from high places.
When the red robe is worn, rouge and lip stick should not match exactly, but be a tone softer.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers) By ADELE GARRISON

"Indeed I do," I answered Nancy Carew readily. "You whispered to me to look out for my lovely niece, for Stephen Redfield was 'bad medicine'."
"I wish I had followed my impulse and intuition instead of cold reason upon that occasion," she said, "and had elaborated my warning. It might have saved Mary a great deal of unhappiness, although—I don't know—with her sense of drama, and her romantic impulses, the suspicion of something sinister and dangerous in a man's background might have invested him with even more glamour than he already possesses; and that, I grant you, although I do not like a hair in his sleek head, would be virtually impossible."
"His drawing power at the box office is proof enough of that," I said, and she nodded emphatically.
Nancy Surprises Madge.
"He has always possessed that glamour," she said reminiscently. "I have known him for 15 years, ever since he was floating around in stock in the sticks."
"Fifteen years?" I echoed incredulously.
She gave me a knowing little smile.
"How old do you suppose Steve Redfield is?" she queried.
"I never have thought about it seriously," I countered, "but my casual impression would have rated him as about 27."
"Add ten years to that and you'll be much nearer the truth," she said, and I gave a little gasp of amazement.
Redfield Not His Name.
"You certainly have astonished me," I said. "I always have rather prided myself upon my ability to estimate ages, but I never would have guessed his."
"He possesses two things superlatively," she said, "one of those rare, naturally youthful faces, and a knowledge of make-up so delicately managed as to be virtually imperceptible."
"It is that, most certainly," I commented. "I never would have suspected it."
"Nobody does," she retorted. "And of course nobody connects polished, man-of-the-world Stephen Redfield with the talented, good-looking, but rather uncouth lad, Stephen Ricardo, whom I knew over 15 years ago."
"Stephen Ricardo," I said. "He didn't change his initials."
"He wasn't experienced enough to do that," she answered. "When, after an interval when he disappeared from the theater, he appeared at one of the smaller colleges, one with elastic entrance requirements, as Stephen Redfield. There he made the dramatic society, which happened to be the college's chief reason for existence—had an alumnus, a famous retired actor, as the head of its drama department—and with the training of that man, he made a name for himself. And his advancement since his graduation has been rapid."
"I have read accounts of his work in college," I answered, "of his sponsorship by the famous coach, of his rapid rise, and of his final accolade by Philip Veritzen. But I never have seen any mention of those earlier days. I supposed if I ever gave the matter any thought, that he was an especially talented young collegian who had unusual special training."
"There never has been a breath of those earlier days in any of his publicity," she replied. "He has been Stephen Redfield, whose parents very conveniently died abroad, ever since he broke into the theatrical limelight at the college. Most of his associates in the earlier days never have recognized him."
"The few of us who do know the truth, have loyally shielded a fellow Thespian, and we never would reveal the truth as long as no person's happiness—or—the public welfare—was endangered."
My pulses quickened at this repeated hint of something sinister in Stephen Redfield's history, and I put a breathless question. "The public welfare?" I said. "What do you mean by that?"

"The Authority on Authoritas"

JUST ONE RIGHT PLAY
With certain combinations of cards, there seems to be an option regarding the method of their play. Offhand, it appears that either of two or more ways would produce the same result. A bit of study, however, can show that there is just exactly one correct way to play the combination and get maximum results from it.

3 ♣ 1 ♠ 1 ♣ 2 ♣

That was certainly funny-sounding bidding, but logical enough. West's 2-Clubs meant the side had a game in whatever suit fitted, North's 3-Clubs formed an attempted barrier to keep them from the game by a sacrifice, and East's double showed he thought the side could make more playing against clubs than in its own suit. It could have, but didn't.

West cashed his two top spades, getting a low-high from East, then did the same in diamonds. East again giving a discouraging signal—a costly mistake—as he did not want his trumps shortened. West then led his singleton trump. The declarer, Edward S. Ellenbogen, of Rye, N. Y., playing in the Westchester Country club initiation duplicate arranged by George Hynson, Jr., took that trump with the A, laid down the K, then led the heart 10 to the A. West used his heart Q to knock out dummy's K, then the heart 7 was led to the 4 and J.

Tomorrow's Problem.

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)
If North, an almost absolute beginner, bids 1-Spade to open this deal and you fancy yourself as a fine card player, what would you bid on the South hand in case you were shooting for "impossible" top scores?
It may be more than just a nasty habit! It may be a sign of nerves. Yes, ugly, crawling roundworms inside your child! Other warning signs are fidgeting, "icky" appe- tite, crankiness, itching in certain parts. Roundworms can cause real trouble! If you even suspect your child has them, get Jarne's Vermifuge right away! Jarne's is America's best known proprietary worm medicine. Scientifically tested and used by millions for over a century. It expels stubborn worms, yet acts very gently. If no worms are there, Jarne's acts merely as a mild laxative. Be sure you get Jarne's Vermifuge.

Itemized Chart Reveals Low Cost of Sewing

An itemized cost chart reveals that you can make a devastating evening dress that will do wonders for your ballroom technique, for only $5.50 if you can sew. And a taffeta jacket in a contrasting color for only $2.85, and you'll be ready for your first summer dancing date. You can "run-up!"

The contract was already down two. If it went down one more, East and West would have a fine score, but if Mr. Ellenbogen got the rest of the tricks, he would have a top. West at that stage had the spade 6, heart 4 and two little diamonds, north the spade 8, diamond 9 and the club Q-5. East the spade Q-J and club 10-7. South the diamond Q-J and club J-8. West led his heart 4, which everybody could ruff. Mr. Ellenbogen, after keen study, ruffed it with the dummy's club Q, led the club 5 for a finesse of the 8, dropped East's last trump with the J and raked in a good diamond for the finale. Note what would have happened to him if he had played any other of the four cards in the dummy; he would have had to lose one or another of the last four tricks.

Before you start your summer sewing "spree," it's a good idea to jot down what clothes you have on hand that are still wearable, and what you own in the way of accessories—bags, gloves, shoes, etc. From this point on, you know exactly where you stand. Of course you want a new dress! But has it occurred to you that you don't have to start from scratch to be in fashion? Every season has a few carry-over's from the season before. Examine the clothes in your closet. What can you do to bring them up to the minute? Pick pockets—now there's a touch! Is your dress solid color? Pockets in a contrasting print add a magic note. Is it a print? Pockets in the dominating color will do wonder for it.

Pockets can be cut in a variety of shapes. Square pockets may be sewed on straight, or on the slant. Circular pockets may be sewed on flat, leaving an opening at the top or outer edges...or you can turn down a segment to make straight edge for the opening. If your fabric is one sided be sure to face the turned down edge to avoid showing the wrong side.

Another trick is contrasting sleeves to match your pockets. These give a jumper effect very new now that jermies are here. A change from short to long sleeves, from close fitting to full sleeves, makes an old dress as good as new. A belt and buttons of the same fabric "tie the dress together."
And notice the new necklines. It's easy to restyle necklines this year. Cut them into a deep V to give the new swan effect, that's so flattering. V-shaped necklines can be varied by detachable collars. Pique, organdy, or a bit of crochet around the neck, adds a crisp touch. Several collars in white and pastels make a wardrobe seem much larger than it really is. You will watch for soft or sloping lines in the new fashions. But for your carry-over wardrobe, all you need do is make the shoulder pads less bulky, or remove them entirely.

In selecting your fabrics, exert your best business sense and careful judgment. Fabrics are extremely important, and the right choice will do much toward making your wardrobe a successful achievement. A dress that you will wear, like the "suit dress" described above, should be made of the best material you can afford—an all-wool flannel is recommended. Use a pure, washable silk for your suit blouse, because it will wrinkle less readily, launder beautifully and retain its new look for as long as you wear it. But you can choose a less expensive fabric for your evening dress, since here the accent is in glamour, rather than long wearing qualities. The fabric for your print dress should be distinctive in design, and preferably washable, but this, too, need not be expensive. And be as frivolous as you please in selecting material for your jermies, since gaiety is its only reason for existence!
Before you start your summer sewing "spree," it's a good idea to jot down what clothes you have on hand that are still wearable, and what you own in the way of accessories—bags, gloves, shoes, etc. From this point on,

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Miss Midnight On Broadway.
I ran into Hank Ladd, Bert Wheeler's vaudeville partner and gag writer, at Leone's the other night, and he was nursing a sore chin—a result of his imitating a punching bag during some friendly nonsense about the good old days.

Hank, it seems, was dining with Wheeler when Frank Fay, the comic, came in. The Fay-Wheeler feud, as anyone who ever came within a hundred miles of the Palace Theater knows, was at one time one of the hottest vaudeville ever saw, and it was never made up; it just died of senility. Fay and Wheeler began entertaining their memories by talking about it during dinner.

The feud started when Wheeler and Fay were on the same bill at San Francisco some ten years ago. Bert looked at the order of the bill and found he was slated to follow Fay, which was never any comedian's idea of Christmas in July. Bert pleaded with the manager to change the lineup but the manager wouldn't.

"Of course," he amended, "if you and Fay want to change spots it's all right with me."

The diabolical little Wheeler sidled into Fay's dressing-room forthwith and said:

"I'm supposed to follow you on the bill and that's too tough a job. How about changing places with me?"

Fay's chest ballooned slightly.

"Sure, kid," he said.

So Bert went out first and did 40 minutes of comedy that left the audience limp. Too limp to laugh even slightly when Fay came on.

Fay didn't speak to Wheeler for the rest of the week. The feud became famous all over the country and in Lindy's the boys dawdled over their cheesecake talking about it.

Shortly thereafter Fay was booked into the Palace on his record-breaking run, and in his eighth consecutive week there he found Wheeler on the same bill. He approached him with a falsely friendly leer. "After all, Junior," he said in a kindly tone, "I am just the master of ceremonies on this bill, you're the feature—so let's go out together and do a few gag bits."

"Let's rehearse first," said the wary Wheeler.

"We don't need any rehearsal, Junior," said Fay lightly. "We're both veterans and we can get along without one."

Came the first show. Fay brought Wheeler on and left him standing on the corner of the stage while Frank told twelve solid minutes of sock gags he had been saving for this occasion. Wheeler was too smart to break in.

Finally Fay turned to the little fellow and said:

"Well, Junior, haven't you anything to say to the audience?"

"Oh, take your time," said Wheeler. "I enjoy listening to you light comedians."

"Light comedians!" roared Fay. "What do you mean, light comedians?"

Wheeler smiled. "You do very well at getting a small giggle from the crowd. But tell me, Frank, wouldn't you like to see this crowd really roll in the aisles?"

"I certainly would, Junior."

"Well, watch," said Wheeler. "With that he hauled off and smacked Fay right on the chin, knocking him down—and he rushed off just as the curtain was brought down."

Fay was furious when he came to. And his feelings were salvaged when the manager came backstage in high glee and said it was the funniest bit ever to hit the Palace.

"Keep it in all week, boys," said he.

That was when the Wheeler-Fay feud really started. But good.

And that was what the boys were talking about in Leone's the other night and that was what Hank Ladd was listening to. When the reminiscences ended he turned to Wheeler and said:

"But how hard did you hit him for the rest of the week, Bert?"

Wheeler smiled and said, "Not too hard. Hank. Just like this—" and he hauled off and smacked Hank on the jaw.

Fay, ever alert for a cue, said: "No, Bert, you hit me more like this," and he delivered another brand of hook to Ladd's jaw.

They kept this up for some time. That is why, when I saw Hank Ladd, he was having a little trouble surrounding his spaghetti.

but called Walter Huston, to pull a surprise on his son. When the dead man fell through the door, Director John Huston would recognize his famous papa in the role—then and not before.

The plans, of course, overlooked the necessity for rehearsals. When Walter showed up on the set, in costume, son John said, "What's this?"

"I'm your actor—the sea captain," said Walter.

"Oh, no!" protested John. "No family stuff!"

But he gave in speedily. A long time ago, said Walter, John used to talk of writing and directing a play starring his father. So it came about this day—Director Huston has Star Huston as his most expensive bit-player, and the scene will remain in the salary going to the player originally hired.

Walter Wanger, who had such a hard time keeping "Personal History" apace with foreign developments that he finally chuckled story and title and made "Foreign Correspondent" instead, has a surer thing in Barre Lyndon's "Sundown." It's a story of desert fighting in the present war or rather of Nazi intrigue among the natives and Moslems in Africa as a sideline to the fighting.

Walter Huston sat around the set, just visiting. This was Jack Sullivan's idea. That afternoon a bit player was due for a brief scene. Huston hired a bit-player, broken-down megaphone, a receptacle for "touches" a pair of white gloves (a la William Dieterle), an inspirational pamphlet entitled, "Are You Man or Mouse?"

HINTS U. S. HAS UNDERSTANDING
WITH JAPANESESenator Nye Wonders Why No
Efforts Are Made To Get Pacific Naval Bases.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Sen. Nye (R., N. D.), a member of the senate foreign relations committee, said today that "official silence" toward the far-eastern situation indicates that the administration has reached a secret non-aggression "understanding" with Japan. Nye, a leading non-interventionist, asserted in an interview that the administration has concentrated on obtaining military bases in the Atlantic, and that "it seems to have forgotten about obtaining bases in the Pacific."

"This can only lead to the conclusion that there is a pretty good understanding with Japan," he continued. "The administration seems to have lost all fear of Japanese aggression in the Pacific."

"It certainly indicates that there have been secret diplomatic conversations with Japan which have resulted in an understanding that the status quo will be maintained in the Pacific so long as possible." The North Dakotan asserted also that the continued shipment of oil and other commodities to Japan "to keep her war machine going" is a further indication that some agreement might have been reached with this country.

"We don't seem to have any alarm over the Pacific, which, of course is good news," Nye said, "but it does seem strange to me that such strict silence regarding the Far East has been maintained by the administration."

Nye said that "it would be interesting to know whether Great Britain has any direct bearing on our present policy toward the Far East," as Sen. Wheeler (D., Mont.) leader of the senate non-interventionists continued his charge that Prime Minister Churchill is "dictating our foreign policy."

"Let's quit kidding ourselves about foreign policy," Wheeler said. "Our foreign policy is being dictated for us, not in Washington, but by Mr. Churchill and his banker friends in London."

TOLEDO — Coroner Frank G. Kretz last night returned a verdict of double suicide after the discovery of the bodies of a 46-year-old former minister and his wife in a room where they had lived about a week.

The bodies of Kenneth McCoy and his wife Esther, about 32, were discovered in a bed after a detective had been sent to investigate a letter received by Police Chief Ray E. Allen which said:

"Dear Chief: I hope when you receive this that you will find my husband and I both dead at 111 12th street, Toledo."

A six-ounce bottle which had contained poison and an empty glass were found beside the bed. Kretz said the poison had badly burned the lips of both.

The four-page letter, signed by "Esther McCoy," said her husband "had been in a minor trouble at Dayton, O., and that he had been confined in an Indiana state hospital at Richmond, Ind. The letter said McCoy had been a minister at Albion and Claypool, Ind."

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Albert Hoffman; his wife, Helen; three daughters, Barbara Ann, Janice and Sue, all of Plymouth.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2:30 p. m. in the Plymouth Lutheran church in charge of Rev. Richard Wolf. Burial will be in Greenlawn cemetery.

She was born Dec. 13, 1862 near Johnsonville and spent all her life there.

She is survived by her husband, C. H. Halderman; a son, C. C. Halderman of near Johnsonville; a daughter, Mrs. Irene Stull of Berea; 13 grandchildren and one great-grandchild; two brothers, Charles Ruhl of Bucyrus; and a sister, Mrs. William Gattner of Galien.

Burial was in Shauk cemetery.

MOTHER WHO SPANKED BABY TO DEATH LEAVES LIMA HOSPITAL

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Mrs. Julia Barnett, 26-year-old mother who a jury acquitted of the spanking-slaying of her two-year-old son, hunted a home today to start life anew after her release from the Lima State Hospital for the Criminally Insane.

Four months after she was committed to the institution, Mrs. Barnett was found sane in the court of Common Pleas Judge

Neal Lora at Lima and ordered freed. She was sent to the hospital after specialists testified at her trial that she was insane when her son was slain last Dec. 28.

Judge Lora ordered Mrs. Barnett's husband, Barnard, to establish a new home removed from the neighborhood in which they lived when the tragedy occurred.

Reiterating testimony she gave at her manslaughter trial last spring, Mrs. Barnett told Judge Lora during a hearing yesterday that she did not remember striking her son with a pancake turner. The child died of blows which the state charged were inflicted by Mrs. Barnett.

Dr. E. H. Crawford, acting superintendent of the institution, testified that his staff agreed Mrs. Barnett was sane at the time of the slaying and was sane now. He added that the mother probably struck the child "during a moment of anxiety hysteria while intoxicated."

The woman's husband was in court during the hearing and returned her to Cleveland.

Parliamentary rules were strained but not broken last night at city council meeting. After the regular meeting, council met to discuss changes in a salary ordinance. In order to avoid another special meeting this month, it was decided to hold another meeting right away. After consulting City Solicitor M. D. Ward, Jr., to find if the meeting would be legal, it was discovered that there had been no vote on adjournment. Before discovery of the neglected vote, council planned everything from waiting until after midnight to turning the clocks ahead so that the session would be according to law.

W. G. Cox, Mansfield's naval recruiting officer, is again troubled by the Marines. A short time ago the Marines came to town and attempted a little recruiting in his postoffice headquarters. Cox is just a little touchy about his office and the payoff came last week when the Marines scouted the building for a recruiting room of their own and suggested that a partition be erected in Cox's room allowing them half the space. Cox is not talking, but then the Marines have NOT landed . . . yet.

The Democrats and Republicans got together at the Richland county courthouse today. Election Board Clerk Phil Wolfe, Republican, gave a helping hand to Mary Newcomer, president of the Richland county Young Democratic club, while she was painting signs for use at the fish fry the Democrats are holding tonight at Newville.

One of the city's familiar street names was consigned to oblivion last night. City council approved a resolution changing the name of Overlook avenue to Arlington avenue. Overlook has been an extension of Arlington avenue for several years. Arlington avenue was established on April 9, 1887, while Overlook avenue was laid out on Sept. 10, 1904.

The state department turned loose Dr. Kurt Rieth, former German ambassador to Austria, held on charges of violating the immigration laws, and Dr. Manfred Zapp and Guenther Tonn, German newspapermen accused of neglecting to register as foreign agents, so that all three could sail on the West Point.

They said the state department had promised the liner would be held for them.

Another eleven-hour development in the expulsion of the group which had been assured safe passage to Lisbon was the release last night of three Germans from Ellis Island.

Braves Stretch Win Streak to Five Straight Games

Sport Podge by REX HESS

Bill Snyp, the Lima sports scrivener who acts as secretary of the Ohio State league, cleared up one league mystery for me this morning, but there's an even bigger mystery still unsolved.

Bill writes to say he was responsible for the story on the wire service teletypes setting the date for the postponed league all-star game at Fremont for Thursday night of this week.

Since the game was to be at Fremont the story carried a Fremont date line, even though "Bugs Baer, Bear, Bare, Bair, Behr of the Fremont News-Messenger wasn't consulted," according to Snyp.

But the mystery that puzzles me is: What's the matter with the Tiffin Mud Hens?

In the last two weeks of the first-half season of the Ohio State loop, the Hens were just the hottest thing in the circuit.

They had a chance to win the first-half rag and were all set to play host to the all-star game.

But these little Hens forgot to scratch.

They counted their chicks before they hatched.

Tiffin needed to take a double header from Mansfield on the last night of the first half season and then a single game from Fremont postponed from an earlier date to drag down the first half gonfalon.

But Mansfield won both end of that double header, passing Tiffin, and going into second place for the first half season, and the Hens immediately went into a nose dive for eight straight losses.

And today they've won but one game out of nine in the second half.

The Hens still have the club that looked so hot after Harry Taylor, slick fielding first sacker, came from Toledo to take over the managerial reins.

But the Tiffin team that dropped a 6 to 4 decision to the Braves at the Fairground ball yard Sunday didn't play the same brand of ball that they showed while driving for that first half flag.

Every ball player likes his base hits, and every ball player will make an effort at a fielding chance that comes his way, and the Hens were trying for their hits and taking their fielding chances.

But the old pepper was gone, the dash was missing, the spirit was non-existent.

It could be that the Braves broke the hearts of the Hens when they took that final double header of the first half. Now isn't that a nice thing for a big bold Indian to do to a fat and frisky little Hen?

Don McNeill Sets Record For Speed

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Early yesterday morning Don McNeill was in Dayton, O., on his way east from Indianapolis. This morning he's in the fourth round of the New York state clay court tennis championships, thanks to the speed of modern transportation and the rapidity with which McNeill polished off two adversaries during yesterday's twilight hours.

To get out of Dayton, McNeill boarded a fast plane and after an afternoon of smooth sailing, he landed at La Guardia Field which is practically a pebble heave from the Seminole club, scene of the tournament.

Three hours and three opponents later, he was comfortably bracketed in the round of 16 and well on his way to a successful defense of his title.

The national champion was one of eight seeded players who arrived two days late for action. Each of them received first round defaults and then proceeded to mow down those ahead of them.

TOURNAMENT ADVANCES
LAKESIDE.—(AP)—The Northern Ohio junior tennis singles championship moved into the third round of play here today.

Surviving two rounds of furious play yesterday were: Robert Thompson of Youngstown, Herbert Jacobs of Lorain, Edward Kuhn, Jr., and Alvin Bumis of Cincinnati. Other entries advanced on bugs.

Bob Feller Knotches 18th Win

Tribe Has Chance to Overtake Yankees.

CLEVELAND.—(AP)—Bob Feller's 100th victory of his major league career sent the Indians into battle against Boston today with definite possibilities of overtaking the leading Yankees within the next 10 days.

While Blazin' Bob stopped the Red Sox 4 to 1 yesterday for his 18th triumph of 1941, Chicago snapped New York's 14-game win streak and slashed the easterners' first-place margin to four contests.

Mel Harder drew Joe Dobson as a mound foe for the finale of the Boston series, with Al Milnar, Jim Bagby and Feller slated to face the Yankees in the three games immediately following. Next week Cleveland tackles the leaders three more times in New York.

Feller's five-hit decision over Boston put the young fireballer four victories ahead of his 1940 pace, when he won 27 games, and greatly enhanced his chances of passing the 30-mark by curtain time. On July 15 of last year Bob had 14 victories and five defeats.

The New York Yankees still can be beaten.

This information probably will be received in disbelief by the rest of the American league, but it is a matter of record that the Chicago White Sox accomplished the trick 7-1 yesterday and snapped the 14-game winning streak of the Bombers.

It was just as decisive as the score shows. The Sox stepped out into a two-run lead in the second inning and finished with another four-run flurry in the eighth. Joe Rigney was always in control and even had Joe DiMaggio subdued, but not stopped.

DiMaggio topped a pitch into a slow roller down the third base line and beat it out for a single on his third trip to the plate and stretched his hitting string to 34 consecutive games.

When you consider that the Yankees have won 13 of their last 20 games and 33 out of their last 38, a single setback does not stand out as very significant, even though it ends the longest winning streak of the year in the major leagues.

The veteran Tommy Bridges also produced a five-hitter as the Detroit Tigers came from behind to down the Philadelphia Athletics 4-2. On the other hand a combination four-hit hurling job by Ken Chase and Vern Kennedy of the Washington Senators wasn't good enough to beat the St. Louis Browns.

The two Washington flingers walked nine men and the Browns won 6-4, helped by George McQuinn's home run—the only roundtripper of the day in either league.

The Brooklyn Dodgers expanded their National league lead with a 1-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs in the day's most stirring struggle. Kirby Higbe shut out the Bruins on two singles for his 13th triumph of the season.

Meanwhile the tail-end Phillies obliged by beating the St. Louis Cardinals 5-4 and dropping them to 3½ games behind the Dodgers. The Cincinnati Reds skinned past the Boston Braves 7-4 with a three-run rally in the 13th inning and the New York Giants edged out the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2 with three runs in the ninth.

Walker Sinks Wills in Four Rounds

DAYTON.—(AP)—Jack (Buddy) Walker, Columbus Negro, proved today he is not yet washed up as a ranking heavyweight boxer.

He knocked out young Harry Wills, of Cincinnati, in the fourth round of a 10-round scheduled fight here last night. Walker floored Wills' three times before putting him away in the fourth with a right cross to the stomach.

Illini Muddle Hangs Fire

Zuppke-Wilson Wrangle Aired by Trustees.

CHICAGO.—(AP)—Bob Zuppke's future as a big-time football coach hung in the balance today.

The University of Illinois trustees met in Chicago to study and possibly clear up the school's muddled athletic affairs. There may be other solutions but the trustees have four apparent avenues to possible action: (1) Dismiss Zuppke; (2) Dismiss Athletic Director Wendell L. Wilson; (3) Retain both; (4) Dismiss both and completely reorganize the athletic department.

The school's athletic department has been in a state of unrest ever since the Wilson-Zuppke feud came to light in 1938. Wilson obtained Zuppke's resignation three years ago, but the trustees refused to accept it.

Harold (Red) Grange, most famous pupil during Zuppke's 28-year regime at Illinois, charged last week that Wilson had intended to become head coach, himself in 1938 if Zuppke was let out. Grange also stated Wilson offered him a job as an assistant coach at his old school. Grange strongly advocated the retention of Zuppke.

Wilson denied Grange's charge Sunday and countercharged that the former grid star was one of a group trying to oust him as athletic director.

Grange lashed more fuel on the fire yesterday by suing Wilson for $50,000, charging the athletic director with issuing a "malicious, false, slanderous and defamatory" statement which "greatly injured" Grange's reputation.

Its Old Story At Inverness

Servis and McCarthy Face Field In State Tourney.

TOLEDO.—(AP)—It was the same old story—Servis and McCarthy against the field—as the 38th annual Ohio amateur golf championship got under way at the Inverness country club today.

Bobby Servis of Dayton, the defending champ, and Maurice J. McCarthy of Cincinnati have monopolized the Buckeye amateur picture for seven of the last eight years, one of them taking the title each tournament since 1933 excepting in 1935.

They're playing again, and while they were installed as favorites, there was a promise of stiff opposition from some of the field of 148 that teed off in the 18-hole qualifying round.

Topping the list of dangerous foes was Danny Carmichael of Columbus, Princeton University's athlete who reached the semi-finals of the recent national intercollegiate. Carmichael demonstrated his kind of golf when he teamed with Jack Willmet of Dayton in yesterday's pro-amateur tournament for a five-under-par performance of 31-35-66.

This was good enough to tie for top honors in the preliminary event with Toledo's Byron Nelson, whom Vic Ghezzi edged out of the national PGA title in extra holes at Denver Sunday, and Frank Stranahan, a star Toledo swinger who holds the trans-Mississippi title.

Other top-flight clouters in the field included: Walter Mayo and Tom Weiskopf of Massillon.

TAKES FIVE STROKES FOR HOLE-IN-ONE

CINCINNATI, O.—(AP)—It took five strokes on the score card for Charley Deetz to make a hole-in-one on the Ridgewood golf course.

His initial two shots from the 17th tee landed in a lake and he tried again. The third tee shot sailed 150 yards, bounded on the green and into the cup. He was assessed two penalty strokes which made his total five.

RESUME PLAY

LANCASTER.—(AP)—Play in the Ohio semi-pro baseball tournament, called off at Zanesville last week because of poor attendance, will be resumed here today and continue on the following two week-ends. The winner will represent Ohio in the national competitions at Wichita, Kas.

Wright Stable Makes Clean Sweep In Race

Warren Wright, Chicago sportsman and owner of Whirlaway, the three-year-old racing champion, entered three horses in the Arlington Futurity at Arlington Heights, Ill. The three, Sun Again, Some Chance and Wishbone, respectively, finished one-two-three for a very rare finish on a racing track. Of the total purse of $48,750 all but $1,500 went to Wright. Anti-Climax was fourth.

Congs Take Fourth Win

Undeclared In Second Canto of Church League.

Church league teams tangled in three tilts last night. St. John's club sinking the Baptist ten, 11-3, the Congregationalists smiting St. Luke's 7-1, and the Lutherans bombarding St. Matthews 22-9.

K. Krupp, Gross and Swigart gathered six of St. John's ten hits, while the Baptist's Boyd was sparking the losers assault with two out of four and C. Condon was gathering two out of three.

Scott led the Cong's eight hit victory with two out of three. Brandt of St. Lukes connected twice while Bissman added another to the club's three hit total. The Lutherans lashed St. Matthews, scoring in every inning but the second.

Columbus and Colonels Fatten on Foes at Home.

(By Associated Press)
The Minneapolis Millers returned home today to prepare for Wednesday night's annual American Association All-Star game, but far from jubilant over the road trip just ended.

The Millers left home 10 days ago at the top of the circuit with a two-game lead over Louisville. The 12-game invasion of the east left Tom Sheehan's sluggers in third place behind the Colonels and the Columbus Red Birds.

Kansas City, the fourth team rated a real flag contender, fared no better than the Millers. While Louisville and Columbus were fattening up at home with identical records of eight wins in 12 games, the Millers and Blues were losing seven of 12 games apiece.

Louisville crowned its successful home stay last night with a double victory over the Millers, 1 to 0 and 11 to 4, before a ladies night throng of over 12,000.

Columbus, likewise, polished off Milwaukee's hapless Brewers, 3 to 0, and 8 to 2. Jack Bradsher's home run gave Toledo a 2 to 1 victory over Kansas City and St. Paul snapped Indianapolis' eight-game winning streak in the first game of their doubleheader, 2 to 0, but the Indians gained an even break with a 3 to 2 nightcap decision.

Trounce Pandas 9 to 2 To Take Second Place

Every Member of Mansfield Club Gets at Least One Safe Bingle

MANSFIELD'S hustling, bustling Braves chalked up their fifth straight victory last night at the Fairground before a ladies' night crowd of 400 customers, defeating the Lima Pandas 9 to 2 and taking over complete possession of second place in the Ohio State league.

Tonight they go to Lima for their second tilt in the crucial second-place series with the Pandas, and tomorrow night they tangle with Chappie Geygan's champions, the Fremont Green Sox, at the Fairground.

Moore which produced three markers. Mangan led off with a double in the third, Mutryn and Siebert walked, and Bill Reinka singled before Salem slashed a triple down the right field line. This little outburst produced three more runs for the Braves and the score was 6-0.

Cooney's Career Varied

Vet Outfielder Once Was Pitcher, First Baseman.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Somebody mentioned that Johnny Cooney, Boston Braves' outfielder, was hitting around .320 and had a fair chance to win the National league batting championship. That started an argument about how and where Johnny got the scars on his left arm.

Before any legends grow let us set down the facts about an amazing career:

Cooney will not be 40 until March 18, 1942.

He got the scars on his left arm in 1927 when he had two operations for the removal of 13 pieces of bone.

He has been a pitcher, a first baseman and an outfielder and has been in baseball since 1921.

At his advanced age he is having one of the best seasons in his career and there aren't more than half a dozen outfielders in the business who can get 'em the way he can.

This is the third comeback that Cooney has made. He was a pretty fair pitcher for Boston until he developed arm trouble in 1927 and had to have his operations. The arm came around all right, but not enough to enable him to stay up as a big league pitcher.

In 1930 he found himself in the International league and he kicked around in the minors until 1935, playing for Jersey City, Newark, Toledo and Indianapolis. The years were creeping up on him and most ball players would have been content to take it easy in their twilight days.

Johnny wasn't built that way, and he kept working hard, studying pitchers, perfecting the technique of playing the outfield and hoping for another chance to come back. When Casey Stengel, then manager of the Dodgers, brought Cooney up from Indianapolis in 1935, he hit .282 in 1936 and .293 in 1937, but he was traded to the Cardinals in the deal that brought Leo Durocher to Brooklyn.

The Cardinals had plenty of young outfielders so eventually they gave him his release because he was a 10-year man and couldn't be sent to the minors. Meanwhile, Stengel had moved to Boston as manager of the Braves and he signed Cooney, figuring to make him a coach and an instructor of young outfielders.

Instead, Stengel ran short of outfielders and tore up the coach's contract and gave Cooney a player's contract. The first paycheck for twice the amount he would have received as a coach. He took the check to President Bob Quinn and said: "I think there has been some mistake, Mr. Quinn."

"Yes, there has," Quinn replied, "the mistake was our's in trying to make you a coach when you were still one of the best outfielders in the league."

Louis-Nova Brawl Booked For New York In September

NEW YORK—(AP)—The Joe Louis-Lou Nova heavyweight title fight will take place at the Yankee Stadium here in mid-September, we learned from a most reliable member of the famed-reliable source family this afternoon.

The all-important, very lucratively box-office attraction will probably be held at the Stadium September 19, but the date has not yet been decided for a variety of reasons.

Both of Louis' managers, Julian Black of Chicago and John Roarborough of Detroit, have confided to intimates that the big battle will take place in New York and they have already made arrangements for the champion to train at his favorite Greenwood Lake camp.

Promoter Mike Jacobs returned last week from a flying trip to Pittsburgh and Detroit with no information other than he had received a good offer from the Motor city big shots to put the show on there.

Evidently Mike wasn't overly impressed with the proposition as contrasted with a show here at the Stadium for he has been pondering the just how to move it in there during a hot baseball month in which the Yankees will probably be fighting out the last stages of the pennant race.

Roarborough and Black were definitely against New York, if Jacobs insisted on putting the fight in the smaller Polo grounds, Mike agreed with them on that point but, as we get it very strongly now, he has worked out a deal with President Ed Barrow of the Yankees whereby the bout could be worked into the Stadium.

On Sept. 19th the Yankees have an off day; the 20th, a Saturday, they are in Boston. Sunday the 21st and Monday the 22nd are out.

COACH NAMED—INS—Edward G. Robinson of Franklin, Mass., former Harvard university guard, today was named coach of the suburban University school football team by Dewey McCarragher, athletic director.

HELMET SMASHED—He wasn't hurt, but Hal Benne, ace moundsman of the Springfield Greys, a New York semi-pro club, needed a new batter's helmet after being hit by a "bean" ball. His helmet was cracked. His skull wasn't.

"AIR CONDITIONED" PARK NOW SHOWING DEANNA DURBIN Nice Girl?

FRANCHOT TONE WALTER BRENNAN Co-Feature "THE SAINT IN PALM SPRINGS" with George Sanders Wendy Barrie

as possible fight dates because the latter is a Jewish holy day. But Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of the following week, the lowly Athletics are scheduled to invade New York.

As we get it, Mike will plan the fight for Friday and have Saturday in reserve in case of a postponement. In case of a second postponement we understand the Yankees will cancel their Tuesday game with the A's, to provide a double-header, and Mike will have another night on which to operate.

The fight definitely must go on in mid-September because of the pressure of the Labor Day holiday and plenty of National League baseball activity here earlier in the month. Jacobs and all concerned insist on the huge Stadium as the New York site, and therefore have been huddling long and often recently trying to arrive at the proper date.

If the present set-up is arranged, as we are guaranteed it has been, Mike will have plenty of dates and will be secure in the knowledge he will have little baseball opposition. All New York teams complete their schedules this week against the weak brethren of both leagues. Jacobs conferred with Ancil Hoffman and Buddy Baer at his Rumson, N. J. estate yesterday and said he would announce the new date and site of the off-postponed Baer-Abe Simon heavyweight fight today. It will go into the garden either Aug. 21 or 30th.

Streak Follows Slump

Started Big Push After Sad Trip Below .300.

By TOM SILER CHICAGO—(AP)—Two months ago today 26-year-old Joe DiMaggio stepped up to the plate in Yankee stadium and smacked a clean single off Ed Smith, chubby Chicago White Sox southpaw.

The Yankee slugger had no way of knowing then that he was projecting himself on the most sensational batting streak ever recorded in major league history. In those lean days Joe was delighted to collect anything resembling a baschit.

Batting champion of the league in 1939 and 1940, Joe had just returned from a sad trip below the .300 mark. Until he got that hit off Smith he had drawn "horse collars" in 11 games between April 22 and May 14.

Of course, all baseball fans know what he's done since May 14. He has done so well that today he went against this same chubby Smith in an effort to extend his consecutive game hitting streak to 55 games.

Willie Keeler's old record of 44 lasted more than 40 years. Your guess is as good as anyone's on how long Joe's incredible string will endure.

Joe was batting .304 when his streak began. In the subsequent two months the Yankee power-house has collected 86 hits in 215 times at bat, scored 52 runs, collected 153 total bases, knocked in 54 runs and blasted 15 home runs, 14 doubles, four triples and 53 singles.

This promiscuous slaughter of all kinds of pitching has boosted him into leadership of the league in runs batted in, home runs and total hits. He is tied with brother Dominic of the Red Sox for runs scored and is fourth in batting at .368.

Cooney, Career Varied

Vet Outfielder Once Was Pitcher, First Baseman.

By HARRY FERGUSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Somebody mentioned that Johnny Cooney, Boston Braves' outfielder, was hitting around .320 and had a fair chance to win the National league batting championship. That started an argument about how and where Johnny got the scars on his left arm.

Before any legends grow let us set down the facts about an amazing career:

Cooney will not be 40 until March 18, 1942.

He got the scars on his left arm in 1927 when he had two operations for the removal of 13 pieces of bone.

He has been a pitcher, a first baseman and an outfielder and has been in baseball since 1921.

At his advanced age he is having one of the best seasons in his career and there aren't more than half a dozen outfielders in the business who can get 'em the way he can.

This is the third comeback that Cooney has made. He was a pretty fair pitcher for Boston until he developed arm trouble in 1927 and had to have his operations. The arm came around all right, but not enough to enable him to stay up as a big league pitcher.

In 1930 he found himself in the International league and he kicked around in the minors until 1935, playing for Jersey City, Newark, Toledo and Indianapolis. The years were creeping up on him and most ball players would have been content to take it easy in their twilight days.

Johnny wasn't built that way, and he kept working hard, studying pitchers, perfecting the technique of playing the outfield and hoping for another chance to be a pitcher. That chance came when Casey Stengel, then manager of the Dodgers, brought Cooney up from Indianapolis in 1935. He hit .282 in 1936 and .293 in 1937, but he was traded to the Cardinals in the deal that brought Leo Durocher to Brooklyn.

The Cardinals had plenty of young outfielders so eventually they gave him his release because he was a 10-year man and couldn't Stengel had moved to Boston as manager of the Braves and he signed Cooney, figuring to make him a coach and an instructor of young outfielders.

Instead, Stengel ran short of outfielders and tore up the coach's contract and gave Cooney a player's contract. The first paycheck that Cooney received was for twice the amount he would have received as a coach. He took the check to President Bob Quinn and said: "I think there has been some mistake, Mr. Quinn."

"Yes, there has," Quinn replied, "the mistake was our's in trying to make you a coach when you were still one of the best outfielders in the league."

Skunk Goes Aloft With Cadet On Practice Flight

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—(INS)—The appearance of a skunk is always an unwelcome surprise but when it invites himself on an airplane ride, near calamity can be the result. At that is the experience of a Randolph Field cadet who recently took off for a practice flight.

When the training ship was soaring along at 1,500 feet, the pilot announced his presence in no mistakable terms. The cadet's frantic inspection revealed the "kitty" was concealed between the pilot's seat and the side of the plane but dissatisfied with his berth, he was ambulating toward the controls—and the pilot.

When the cadet was ordered back to the field, he radioed in return that he preferred to maintain straight flight in order to wait away the paralyzing odor and to save the risk of antagonizing his passenger any more than necessary. Back came the order to get rid of the skunk and back went the cockpit enclosure and a quick inversion of the plane dumped the air-minded intruder toward the ground.

Louis-Nova Brawl Booked For New York In September

By JACK MAHON
NEW YORK (INS)—The Joe Louis-Lou Nova heavyweight title fight will take place at the Yankee Stadium here in mid-September, we learned from a most reliable member of the famed-reliable source family in this afternoon. The all-important, very lucrative five-box office attraction will probably be held at the Stadium September 19, but the date has not yet been decided for a variety of reasons.

Both of Louis' managers, Julian Black of Chicago and John Roxborough of Detroit, have confided to intimates that the big battle will take place in New York and they have already made arrangements for the champion to train at his favorite Greenwood Lake camp.

Promoter Mike Jacobs returned last week from a flying trip to Pittsburgh and Detroit with no information other than the Motor city big shots to put the show on there.

Evidently Mike wasn't overly impressed with the proposition as contrasted with a show here at the Stadium for he has been pondering just how to move it in there during a hot baseball month in which the Yankees will probably be fighting out the last stages of the pennant race.

Roxborough and Black were definitely against New York, if Jacobs insisted on putting the fight in the smaller Polo grounds, Mike agreed with them on that point but, as we get it very strongly now, he has worked out a deal with President Ed Barrow of the Yankees whereby the bout could be worked into the Stadium.

On Sept. 19th the Yankees have an away day, the 20th, a Saturday, they are in Boston. Sunday the 21st and Monday the 22nd are out.

Streak Follows Slump

Started Big Push After Sad Trip Below .300.

By TOM SILER
CHICAGO (AP)—Two months ago today 26-year-old Joe DiMaggio stepped up to the plate in Yankee stadium and smacked a clean single off Ed Smith, chubby Chicago White Sox southpaw.

The Yankee slugger had no way of knowing then that he was projecting himself on the most sensational batting streak ever recorded in major league history. In those lean days Joe was delighted to collect anything resembling a baschit.

Batting champion of the league in 1939 and 1940, Joe had just returned from a sad trip below the .300 mark. Until he got that hit off Smith he had drawn "horse collars" in 11 games between April 22 and May 14.

Of course, all baseball fans know what he's done since Mel Harder held him hitless May 14. Joe has done so well that today he went against this same chubby Smith in an effort to extend his consecutive game hitting streak to 55 games.

Willie Keeler's old record of 44 lasted more than 40 years. Your guess is as good as anyone's on how long Joe's incredible string will endure.

Joe was batting .304 when his streak began. In the subsequent two months the Yankee power-house has collected 86 hits in 215 times at bat, scored 52 runs, collected 153 total bases, knocked in 54 runs and blasted 13 home runs, 14 doubles, four triples and 53 singles.

This promiscuous slaughter of all kinds of pitching has boosted him into leadership of the league in runs batted in, home runs and total hits. He is tied with brother Dominic of the Red Sox for runs scored and is fourth in batting at .368.

The fight definitely must go on in mid-September because of the pressure of the Labor Day holiday and plenty of National League baseball activity here earlier in the month. Jacobs and all concerned insist on the huge Stadium as the New York site, and therefore have been huddling long and often recently trying to arrive at the proper date.

If the present set-up is arranged, as we are guaranteed it has been, Mike will have plenty of dates and will be secure in the knowledge he will have little baseball opposition. All New York teams "complete" their schedules this week against the weak brethren of both leagues. Jacobs conferred with Ancil Hoffman and Buddy Baer at his Rumson, N. J., estate yesterday and said he would announce the new date and site of the off-postponed Baer-Abe Simon heavyweight fight today. It will go into the garden either Aug. 21 or 30th.

THEATERS

Gay Comedy.
Joan Bennett panics the Stock Exchange in "She Knew All the Answers," a rollicking comedy, opening Wednesday at the Ohio. Determined to win a letter of recommendation from the broker-guardian of a millionaire playboy whom she is determined to marry she manages to get herself a job in the financier's office. Knowing nothing about her job she creates nothing less than havoc. John Hubbard is cast as the playboy and Fanchot Tone as the guardian. Eve Arden and Thurston Hall are in the cast.

Absorbing Drama.
The mysteries of psychiatry are brought to the screen for the first time in "Shining Victory," opening at the Madison Wednesday. Baring the innermost secrets of a woman's mind is the work of James Stephenson in the role of an eminent psychiatrist, so intent upon his professional duties that he almost misses the happiness that is his for the asking. Geraldine Fitzgerald, Barbara O'Neil, Montague Love and Sig Ruman are in the cast. George Montgomery walks out of a white collar job to become a day laborer in "Accent on Love," the companion picture with Osa Massen and Cobina Wright, Jr.

Sabotage Thriller.
The under cover story behind sabotage plots directed against munitions factories in this country is dramatized in "Mr. Dynamite," mystery thriller, opening Wednesday at the Ritz. Set in a Near-Eastern carnival in one of New York's foreign quarters the picture presents Lloyd Nolan as a World series ace who becomes involved in a murder while sight-seeing. Irene Castle and Ann Gillis are in the cast. George Montgomery and Mary Beth Hughes are starred in "The Cowboy and the Blonde," tale of a broncho buster and a movie star.

"Saint" Adventure.
The spectacular efforts of a dardavil entrepreneur to see that three valuable foreign stamps are delivered to an American girl as her inheritance provide romance and drama in "The Saint in Palm Springs," showing at the Park, with George Sanders as "The Saint," Wendy Barrie is cast as the young lady who falls heir to the stamps while Jonathan Hale again plays Inspector Farnack. Linda Hayes as a secret foreign agent and Paul Guilfoyle have other important roles. Deanna Durbin in "Nice Girl" with Fanchot Tone is the co-attraction.

AND WHAT WAS IT I HEARD YOU SAYING ABOUT A REAL HOME? AND DID I HEAR YOU SAY SOMETHING ELSE, BILL?

I... I SAID IF ONLY I COULD ASK YOU TO BE MY WIFE AGAIN... BUT I CAN'T EVEN OFFER YOU A DECENT HOME.

HA! HA! I THOUGHT THAT'S WHAT YOU SAID—LOOK, BILL—AREN'T WE ALL HAPPY HERE NOW? NOT THAT I WANT TO SEEM FORWARD OR ANYTHING...

OH, PEG! COULD YOU? AFTER ALL, I'VE DONE TO HURT YOU?

THAT WAS NEVER YOU, BILL... THAT WAS A STRANGER WHO'LL NEVER BOTHER US ANY MORE—YES, BILL—I CAN AND I WILL!

OH, MY DARLING, DARLING PEG!

HEY! BREAK IT UP YOU TWO! WHAT GOES ON ANYWAY? WHAT DO YOU THINK OF SUCH GOINGS-ON, BILLY?

HA! NO TRUER WORDS WERE EVER SPOKEN BY MY SON—POPPEY LOVE MOMMY?

PAM—Tragedy!

WILL YOU PLEASE READ THOSE NAMES AGAIN?

YOU—YOU'RE SURE IT SAYS DAVID GORDON?

DAVID? DAVID—HAS BEEN—KILLED!

THAT'S WHAT HE SAID!

KILLED!!

OH, DAVID! MY DAVID!

HOW CAN I GO ON WITHOUT YOU?

WHAT WAS THAT? I THOUGHT I HEARD PAMELA—OH! MY GOODNESS!

HOW DO YOU DO? IS THIS THE BUMSTEAD KENNELS?

NO, THIS IS NOT A KENNEL AND WE DON'T SELL DOGS.

HELLO, IS THIS DOGWOOD SPEAKING?

THE NAME IS DOGWOOD, NOT DOGWOOD!

ARE YOU THE DOG MAN?

DOG MAN!!!

HOW BEAUTIFUL IT WAS OF YOU TO COME INTO MY LIFE OUT OF NOWHERE

YESTERDAY STUYVIE INVITED HIMSELF TO A TENNIS GAME WITH CLEO. HERE WE HAVE THE RESULTS.

THERE'S ONE FOR YOU, STUYVIE—CHASE THAT ONE FOR AWHILE!

YOU SHOULD PLAY BASEBALL, STUYVIE—THERE ARE NINE MEN ON EACH SIDE—YOU WOULDN'T HAVE TO RUN AROUND SO MUCH.

YOU'D BETTER GO BACK TO THE HOTEL, STUYVIE, AND SNIFF YOUR MOTHER'S SMELLING SALTS—YOU'RE TERRIBLY IN NEED OF A BIT OF A STIMULANT.

I HAVE COME TO EXPLAIN TO YOU, MY FRIEND, WHY MY FATHER HOLDS YOU HERE—IT IS THROUGH NO WILL OF HIS OWN!

IT IS THE LAW—THE COMMAND OF THE OLD ONES WHO FEAR A GREAT INVASION OF YOUR KIND EVER SINCE THE ARRIVAL OF—

SANDA, THE STRANGER?

THAT'S SANDY! MY FRIEND! WHERE IS HE?

I DON'T KNOW! NOR DOES ANYONE! HE HAS VANISHED—COMPLETELY! THAT, TOO, TROUBLES OUR NATION!

2 WOODEN LEGS

CORNISH FLAT, N. H.—(U.P.)

Harry F. Butnam, jack-of-all-trades, has two home-made wooden legs—one for summer and one for winter.

His right leg blown off by an accidentally discharged shotgun, Butnam fashioned the seasonal legs from a butternut tree. Right now, he's wearing the summer leg. But the other leg, sheep-lined and equipped with creepers for walking on ice, stands ready for use next winter.

LUCKY TRACY—Quiz On a Bus.

By Chester Gould

IT WAS AN EMPTY BUS GOING BACK TO THE CAR BARN. THE DRIVER HAS A BULLET IN HIS CHEST.

TAKE HIM TO THE EMERGENCY HOSPITAL, BOYS, AND LISTEN CAREFULLY TO WHAT HE SAYS WHEN HE STARTS TO COME TO.

WHEN PAT AND I FIRST SAW THE BUS, IT WAS WEAVING BACK AND FORTH ABOUT A BLOCK DOWN THE STREET.

WHEN WE REACHED THE BUS, THE DRIVER WAS LYING RIGHT THERE ON THE FLOOR JUST AS YOU SAW HIM.

DID YOU SEE ANYONE STEP OFF THE BUS JUST BEFORE IT STARTED TO WEAVE?

NOT A SOUL, CHIEF AND WHY WASN'T THAT GUY NEAR THE WHEEL?
